10 minutes before your session begins, it will show as Live and you will be able to enter.

2. Enter the session 2873bb0203f

Before you enter the session:

Make sure you are using Google Chrome or Mozilla Firefox.

Do not use Safari.

Make sure your camera and microphone work. You can turn them off when you present, but they need to be accessed in order for you to enter the session.

As soon as you enter the session, you will be asked to allow Anymeets to access your microphone and camera. Click "Allow."

The screenshot shows the Anymeets web interface. At the top, a browser tab is labeled "Session - Anymeets" and the address bar shows "anymeets.com/session/144". A white permission dialog box is open, asking "anymeets.com wants to Use your microphone" with "Allow" and "Block" buttons. In the center, a white loading screen displays "Camera and microphone access required" with a blue circular progress indicator and the text "Select Allow when your browser asks for permissions." A green callout bubble points to this loading screen, stating "This will keep loading until you allow camera and microphone access." The background interface includes a "Backstage" button, a "Time Left: 30 minutes" timer, and various navigation and control elements like "Breakout rooms", "Leave Session", "Info", "Polls", "Audience", "Q & A", "Chat", and "Speakers List".

Once you have allowed the camera and microphone, press “Join session.”

ATTENTION: You will be taken to the session Backstage. Your audience will not be able to see you yet.

The Anymeets virtual session has a “Backstage” and a “Live.”

While you are Backstage, you will be able to video chat with your session chair and your fellow presenters without your audience seeing you. This is the time to meet your fellow presenters and make a final check of your slides/presentation.

When you are Live, your audience can see you. When it is not your turn to present, you can mute yourself, turn off your video, or simply “Hang up” until it is your turn to present.

“Backstage” means that the audience cannot see you.
